My weekend with my host-family!

At the weekend my exchange partner and I decided, even though it was raining, to go to Nantwich with Katalina and Millie. Nantwich is a small town near Crewe. We took a walk through the streets to look at some little shops. You could see some beautiful medieval half-timbered houses. We also spent some time at a cafe, eating brownies, cinnamon buns and drinking coffee. After our rest, our exchange partners took us to a small lake by Nantwich. We explored the small and very muddy path around the lake. We also fed the swans and ducks. After that Ana's mum took us to Millie's home. It was only six o'clock so we still had lots of time to play board games before having dinner. For dinner we had pizza and ice-crème as dessert. At 9 o'clock Ana's stepdad came to pick us up and drove us back home. There we watched Sherlock Homes, the movie and because we enjoyed it so much, we started watching the series, too. I am looking forward to watching them at home.

The next day I helped Ana with her German homework, there she had to write down some facts and sentences about movies. After that we, Ana, her sister Sara and her very nice mum went to a giant bee. Before it was turned into a bee it was a rabbit. It was still raining so we had a nice lunch at McDonald. I really enjoyed my fries.
